

Mapping With Melanin™ — Community Professional Tier

PASTE-READY REPLIT INSTRUCTIONS + FRAMEWORK ADDENDUM

Priority: Phase 4 (Post-tour, revenue-dependent) — Design now, build later

Relationship to existing tiers: This is a NEW persona type that sits alongside the existing three business tiers

1. The Concept

A Community Professional is a minority individual who works AT a non-minority-owned business but deserves community support in their own right. They are not business owners — they are talented professionals whose presence at a location is the reason the community visits.

The Insight: When a Black makeup artist works at Ulta, the community doesn't go to Ulta — they go to HER. When a Dominican barber rents a chair at a non-minority shop, clients follow HIM, not the shop. MWM should recognize and amplify these individuals so the community can find them, support them, and help them grow.

Real-World Examples

Professional	Location	Why Community Visits
Black makeup artist	Ulta Beauty	Her shade-matching is unmatched
Dominican barber	Non-minority barbershop	His fades are legendary
Habesha nail tech	Chain salon	She does cultural nail art
Mexican chef	Non-minority restaurant	His mole is the real thing
Black loan officer	Chase Bank	She actually approves our applications
Vietnamese esthetician	Corporate spa	She understands melanated skin

Black OBGYN	Hospital system	She listens and fights for her patients
Jamaican mechanic	Franchise auto shop	He's honest and doesn't overcharge

2. How Community Professionals Differ From Other Tiers

Attribute	Verified Business	Community Entrepreneur	Community Professional	External Referral
Who is listed	The business	The person (informal biz)	The person (employed)	The business (unclaimed)
Owns the location	Yes	Sometimes (home-based)	No	Unknown
Primary entity	Business name	Person + offering	Person + specialty	Business name
Location relationship	Permanent	Flexible/mobile	"Find me at..."	Fixed address
If they leave	Business stays	Listing moves with them	Profile updates location	Listing stays
Reviews follow	The business	The person	The person	The business
Ownership badge	Yes (minority/allied)	N/A (individual)	N/A (individual)	Pending claim
Cost to list	Subscription tiers	ALWAYS FREE	ALWAYS FREE	N/A
Endorsement tags	Full system	Full system	Full system	Community-only
"The Real" tags	If professional category	If professional category	YES — primary use case	Community-only

3. The Profile Structure

A Community Professional's profile is person-centered, not location-centered.

What Displays on Their Profile Card:

4. Critical Rules

The Person Is Primary, Not The Location

- Reviews, endorsement taps, and "The Real" tags attach to the PERSON, not the business location.
- If Keisha leaves Ulta and moves to Sephora, her 247 "Found My Shade" taps follow her. The Ulta location loses nothing it owned — it never owned her community love.
- If the Dominican barber moves to a new shop, his "Sharpest Lineup" endorsements move with him.
- This is fundamentally different from a business listing where reviews stay with the business.

The Host Business Does NOT Get Listed

- Ulta does NOT get a full MWM business page just because Keisha works there.
- The host business appears ONLY as a location reference on the Community Professional's profile ("Find her at Ulta").
- The host business does NOT receive endorsement tags, "The Real" tags, or community reviews through this listing.
- If the community wants to list Ulta separately (as an Allied Business), that's a separate action with separate criteria.

No Employer Notification

- The host business (Ulta, Chase, the franchise shop) is NEVER notified that one of their employees has a Community Professional profile on MWM.
- This protects the professional from potential workplace retaliation.
- The professional controls their own visibility and narrative.

Always Free

- Community Professionals NEVER pay to be listed. This is the same principle as Community Entrepreneurs — never charge someone pursuing their craft.
- They are individuals, not businesses. They don't have marketing budgets.

One-Way Mirror Applies

- Kinfolk references BEHAVIOR to users: "Since you've been searching for makeup artists who understand deep shades..."
 - Kinfolk NEVER says: "Because you're a Black woman looking for..."
 - The Community Professional may see aggregate data: "34 people searched for color specialists in your area this week" — but never individual user identities.

5. Discovery & Search

How Users Find Community Professionals:

1. Category Search: When a user searches "Makeup Artist" or "Barber," Community Professionals appear in results alongside businesses.
2. Search Result Ordering:
 - Verified Minority-Owned Businesses (first)
 - Community Entrepreneurs (second)
 - Community Professionals (third)
 - Allied Businesses (last — never above minority alternatives)
3. Filter Options: Users can filter by:
 - "Community Professionals only" (find individuals specifically)
 - "Near me" (location-based, using the host business address)
 - Category/subcategory
 - Endorsement tags ("Show me professionals with 'This Doctor Listens'")

4. Kinfolk Recommendations: "Looking for a barber who understands your texture? 3 Community Professionals near you have 'They Know Our Hair' endorsements."

Map Representation:

- Community Professionals appear as a distinct pin type on the map — different from business pins.
- Suggested: A person-shaped pin or a pin with a subtle person icon overlay.
- Color: Should complement but differ from business gold circles. Recommendation: Teal or soft purple — warm, professional, distinct.
- Tapping the pin shows the person-centered profile card (not a business card).

6. The Growth Pipeline

Community Professionals have a natural growth pathway that the ecosystem supports:

Plain Text

Community Professional → Community Entrepreneur → Verified Business
(employed) (side hustle) (own shop)

Stage 1: Community Professional (Current)

- Works at someone else's business
- Builds community following on MWM
- Earns endorsement tags and "The Real" trust indicators
- Kinfolk tracks their engagement growth

Stage 2: Kinfolk Celebrates Growth Signals

When a Community Professional accumulates significant community support, Kinfolk celebrates:

🎉 312 people have endorsed your work this year! Your community clearly values what you bring. Have you ever thought about going independent? Here are resources for minority entrepreneurs in your area..."

Growth signals Kinfolk monitors:

- 100+ endorsement taps
- 50+ "Ask For [Name] By Name" taps

- Consistent booking link clicks (people seeking them specifically)
- Community members asking "Do you do private appointments?"

Stage 3: Transition to Community Entrepreneur

If the professional starts taking private clients on the side (braiding at home on weekends, doing makeup for events independently), they can ADD a Community Entrepreneur listing while keeping their Community Professional profile active.

- Both profiles can coexist (dual presence)
- Example: Keisha is a Community Professional at Ulta (weekdays) AND a Community Entrepreneur doing bridal makeup (weekends)
- All endorsements and history carry forward

Stage 4: Transition to Verified Business

When they're ready to go fully independent (open their own salon, start their own practice), the upgrade path works identically to the existing Community Entrepreneur → Verified Business flow:

- All history carries forward (reviews, endorsements, "The Real" tags, follower count)
 - Kinfolk celebrates the milestone
 - The Community Professional profile converts to a Verified Business listing
 - Their community never loses them — they just leveled up

7. How This Feeds The Ecosystem

For the Community Professional:

- Visibility they wouldn't have otherwise (Ulta doesn't market Keisha individually)
- Community validation that builds confidence toward independence
- A portfolio of trust ("247 people said Found My Shade" is powerful when seeking investors or signing a lease)
- Direct booking/social links mean THEY get the client, not just the host business

For the Community:

- Find the PERSON, not just the place
- Know exactly who to ask for when they walk in

- Support minority talent directly, even inside non-minority businesses
- Track their favorite professionals if they move locations

For the Ecosystem:

- Kinfolk learns which professionals are in demand → feeds talent pipeline
- Businesses (verified) can see: "142 people are searching for nail techs in your area" → hiring signal
- The pipeline from employed → independent → business owner creates the full circle
- Partnership data: "Ulta gets 89 visits/month specifically for Keisha" → future partnership leverage

For Kinfolk AI:

- Can prompt verified businesses: "A Community Professional in your category has 200+ endorsements and is considering going independent. Would you like to offer mentorship or a partnership?"
 - Can prompt the professional: "3 salon owners in your area are looking for experienced colorists. Interested?"
 - Connects the "sewing machine" — people who need help with people who can help

8. Safety & Protection Considerations

Workplace Retaliation Prevention:

- The host business is NEVER notified of the listing
- The professional controls whether their full name or just first name + last initial appears
- Location can be listed as general area ("Find her in Center City Philadelphia") rather than exact address if preferred
- The professional can hide their profile temporarily without losing data (vacation mode)

If The Professional Is Fired/Leaves:

- Their profile updates location — "Currently independent" or new location
- All endorsements and history stay with them
- Kinfolk can prompt: "Looks like you're between locations. Want to list as a Community Entrepreneur while you figure out next steps?"

Verification:

- Community Professionals are NOT verified in the same way businesses are (no LLC check)
- Verification is community-based: after 10+ endorsement taps from unique users, the profile gains a "Community Recognized" indicator
- This prevents fake profiles while keeping the barrier low for real professionals

9. Database Schema Additions

10. API Endpoints

Method	Endpoint	Description
POST	/api/community-professionals	Create a new Community Professional profile
GET	/api/community-professionals?category=&city=&state=	Search/browse Community Professionals
GET	/api/community-professionals/:id	Get a specific profile
PATCH	/api/community-professionals/:id	Update profile (location change, bio, etc.)
POST	/api/community-professionals/:id/endorse	Tap an endorsement tag for this professional
GET	/api/community-professionals/:id/endorsements	Get all endorsement counts
PATCH	/api/community-professionals/:id/relocate	Update host business location
POST	/api/community-professionals/:id/upgrade	Begin transition to Community Entrepreneur

11. Replit Implementation Notes

Integration with Existing Systems:

1. Endorsement Tags: Community Professionals use the SAME endorsement tag system as businesses. "The Real" tags are especially relevant here — "This Doctor Listens" applies whether the doctor owns the practice or works at a hospital.
2. Search Integration: Add `community_professional` to the existing search query's `listing_type` filter. Ensure ordering respects the hierarchy: Verified → CE → Community Professional → Allied.
3. Map Integration: Add a new pin type for Community Professionals. Use the same progressive disclosure rules — pin appears on map, tap shows preview card, tap again shows full profile.
4. Kinfolk Integration: Kinfolk should be aware of Community Professional profiles when making recommendations. "Looking for someone who understands textured hair? Keisha at Ulta has 189 endorsements for 'They Know Our Hair.'"
5. Dual Profile: A user can have BOTH a community member profile AND a Community Professional profile (and eventually a CE profile and a Verified Business profile). All are linked via `userId`.

What NOT To Build Yet (Phase 4+):

- The growth pipeline automation (Kinfolk prompts for going independent)
- Talent matching between Community Professionals and hiring businesses
- Analytics dashboard for Community Professionals
- The "Community Recognized" badge automation

What TO Build Now (when authorized):

- The database schema (add `community_professional` to `listing_type` enum)
 - The basic CRUD endpoints
 - The profile card component (person-centered, not business-centered)
 - The map pin type
 - Integration with existing endorsement tag system
 - Search inclusion with proper ordering

12. Examples That Bring It To Life

Example 1: The Makeup Artist

Keisha M. — Makeup Artist • Color Specialist

📍 Find her at Ulta Beauty, 1200 Market St, Philadelphia

"I specialize in deep shades because I spent years watching my mother struggle to find her color. Every woman deserves to see herself."

- 247 people said: Found My Shade
- 189 people said: Blessed Hands
- 156 people said: On Time, Every Time
- [Book With Keisha] → Booksy link
- [Her Work] → @keisha.glam on Instagram

Example 2: The Loan Officer

Marcus T. — Senior Loan Officer • Small Business Specialist

📍 Find him at Chase Bank, 400 Broad St, Philadelphia

"I grew up watching my father get denied. I became a loan officer so I could be the person who says yes."

- 89 people said: Said Yes When Others Said No
- 67 people said: Explained It Plain
- 54 people said: Fought For My Coverage
- [Schedule With Marcus] → Chase appointment link

Example 3: The Hospital OBGYN

Dr. Amara O. — OB/GYN • Maternal Health Advocate

📍 Find her at Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia

"Black women are 3x more likely to die in childbirth. I became an OBGYN to change that statistic, one patient at a time."

- 312 people said: This Doctor Listens
- 278 people said: Believed My Pain
- 245 people said: Respected My Birth Plan
- [Her Practice Page] → Jefferson Hospital profile

Example 4: The Chair-Renting Barber

Julio R. — Master Barber • Fades & Designs

📍 Find him at Classic Cuts Barbershop, Silver Spring, MD

"Se habla español. I learned from my abuelo in DR — every fade is a work of art."

- 456 people said: Sharpest Lineup
- 312 people said: On Time, Every Time
- 201 people said: Ask For Him By Name
- [Book With Julio] → Booksy link
- [His Work] → @julio.fades on TikTok

13. Integration With The Integrity Framework

This section is an addendum to Section 9 (Community Marketplace & Talent Pipeline) of the MWM Integrity, Accountability & Partnership Framework.

The Community Professional tier expands the existing three-tier model to four:

1. Verified Business — Established, registered entities
2. Community Entrepreneur — Informal businesses (home chefs, braiders, makers)
3. Community Professional — Minority individuals employed at non-minority businesses
4. External Reference — Businesses added by community, not yet claimed

The growth pipeline now includes an additional entry point:

Plain Text

Community Professional → Community Entrepreneur → Verified Business

↑
(employed)

↑
(side hustle)

↑
(own shop)

└─ All history carries forward at each transition ─┘

Non-Negotiable Principles (carried forward):

- Community Professionals list for FREE — always
- Non-minority host businesses are NEVER promoted above minority alternatives
- The person's endorsements follow THEM, not the location
- One-Way Mirror Rule applies (behavior-based recommendations, never identity-based)
- Kinfolk celebrates growth, never gates it
- All history carries forward on upgrade

- The host business is never notified

14. Founder's Vision Statement

"A minority makeup artist who works at Ulta — we would still want people to visit her at Ulta to support her because that provides money, and maybe one day she'll make enough to branch out on her own."

This tier exists because the MWM ecosystem doesn't just support business owners — it supports TALENT. It supports the person with the gift, the skill, the calling, regardless of whether they own the building they work in. The community should be able to find them, endorse them, and help them grow until the day they're ready to be their own boss.

The "sewing machine" principle applies: connect people who need a service with the specific person who can provide it — even if that person works inside someone else's business today.
