

Mapping With Melanin™ (MWM)

Kinfolk AI Knowledge Library Specification

Overview:

The MWM "Library" feature enables users to save topics of interest and receive highly curated updates (articles, videos, community content, and professional insights) delivered by Kinfolk AI. Kinfolk leverages the user's shared identity to search reputable, culturally relevant sources, delivering actionable, educational, and inspiring content.

This specification serves as the Replit-ready implementation guide for the Knowledge Library feature, covering the initial launch topic database, diaspora-specific expansions, delivery logic, pattern recognition, user-created topics, and MWM ecosystem connections.

3. PATTERN RECOGNITION & LEARNING ENGINE

Kinfolk AI does not just deliver content; it learns from community behavior to optimize relevance.

Geographic Trending: If 200 users in Atlanta save "Sickle Cell," Kinfolk recognizes the regional pattern and surfaces the topic as "Trending in Atlanta" to similar users.

Source Optimization: Kinfolk tracks engagement metrics. If articles from BlackDoctor.org are saved or shared four times more than articles from WebMD, Kinfolk prioritizes BlackDoctor.org in future searches for that demographic.

Ecosystem Pathway Strengthening: Kinfolk tracks the user journey. If saving "Natural Hair" frequently leads to users booking a local braider, Kinfolk strengthens that algorithmic pathway, suggesting braiders sooner when the topic is saved.

Seasonal Anticipation: Kinfolk identifies temporal trends (e.g., "Flu Season" in October, "Tax Prep" in January, "HBCU Admissions" in August) and proactively suggests these topics.

Admin Oversight (The Safety Valve): Kinfolk NEVER makes unilateral decisions to push new widespread trends. It flags emerging patterns to the MWM Admin dashboard for human approval before surfacing them to the broader user base.

4. USER-CREATED TOPICS FLOW

Users are not restricted to the pre-populated list. They can type and save ANY topic.

The Custom Topic Workflow:

1. User Input: A user types a custom topic (e.g., "Dominican Hair Care" or "Pottery Classes").
 2. Categorization: Kinfolk's NLP automatically assigns the topic to the closest core category (e.g., Lifestyle, Education).
 3. Identity-Aware Search: Kinfolk searches the web using the formula: "[Custom Topic] + [User's Shared Identity (if relevant)]". It filters for high-authority domains.
 4. Delivery Schedule: Kinfolk establishes a content delivery cadence based on the user's global settings (real-time or weekly digest).
 5. Engagement Learning: Kinfolk monitors if the user clicks, reads, or dismisses the pulled articles. If dismissed, Kinfolk adjusts the search parameters for the next pull.
 6. Topic Merging: If 15 users in Philadelphia create variations of "Natural Hair Care" (e.g., "natural hair", "4c hair care"), Kinfolk merges them into a unified trending topic and suggests it to similar users.

5. DELIVERY LOGIC & THE ONE-WAY MIRROR RULE

The One-Way Mirror Rule

Kinfolk uses the user's explicitly shared identity (race, ethnicity, gender) to tailor search queries on the backend. However, Kinfolk NEVER explicitly references the user's identity in its messaging.

- Violation: "Because you are Black, here is an article on hypertension."
- Correct Application: "Based on your saved topic 'Blood Pressure,' here is a new study on managing hypertension naturally."

Note: Businesses receive aggregate data ("Black women 25-35 are searching for salons"), but users are never individually targeted by identity.

Content Delivery Mechanics

Users select their preferred cadence: Real-Time Alerts, Daily Digest, or Weekly Digest. Kinfolk curates a balanced mix of professional articles, verified community member videos (pulled from MWM's internal video feed), and tips from MWM-endorsed professionals. Verified professionals (doctors, lawyers, contractors) on the MWM platform can submit short-form content directly to Library topics, boosting their visibility and "The Real" endorsement status.

6. REPLIT IMPLEMENTATION NOTES

Database Schema Additions (PostgreSQL):

- `LibraryTopics` : `id` , `name` , `category_id` , `description` , `search_keywords` (JSON array), `is_custom` (boolean), `merged_parent_id` .
- `TopicSources` : `id` , `topic_id` , `url` , `domain_authority_score` , `engagement_score` .
- `UserSavedTopics` : `user_id` , `topic_id` , `created_at` , `delivery_frequency` .

Search/Pull Logic (Cron Jobs & External APIs):

- Implement a daily cron job that queries a News/Search API (e.g., Google Custom Search JSON API or Bing Search API) using the `search_keywords` combined with the user's demographic tags.
- Restrict searches to the whitelisted `TopicSources` domains first; expand to general web only if results are insufficient.
- Store pulled articles in a `CuratedContent` table, deduplicating by URL.

Pattern Recognition Engine:

- Build an analytics service that aggregates `UserSavedTopics` by `city_id` and `demographic_id` .
- Create an Admin Dashboard view: "Emerging Trends" that lists custom topics saved by >50 users in a 7-day period, with an "Approve as Global Topic" button.

Ecosystem Hook Integration:

- In the UI component that renders the curated article feed, inject a "Local Experts" card after every 3rd article.
- The "Local Experts" card queries the `Businesses` table where `business_category` matches the `LibraryTopic` 's mapped business type, prioritizing businesses with >4.5 MWM Safety/Endorsement scores.

7. TOPIC BRANCHING & NESTING

Topics in the Knowledge Library are not flat; they operate on a parent/child relationship model. This allows users to control the granularity of the information they receive.

Branching Structure Examples:

- HBCUs (Parent) → Howard University, Spelman College, FAMU, HBCU Admissions, HBCU Homecoming (Branches)
- Dance (Parent) → Salsa, Afrobeats Dance, Stepping, Ballet, Bachata, Dance Fitness (Branches)
- Natural Hair (Parent) → Locs, Protective Styles, TWA (Teen Weeny Afro), Silk Press (Branches)
- Blood Pressure (Parent) → Hypertension Medication, Natural BP Remedies, BP During Pregnancy (Branches)

Branching Rules:

1. User Choice: A user can save the parent topic (receiving a broad mix of news) or a specific branch (receiving highly targeted news). Saving a parent does not automatically subscribe the user to all branches.
 2. Cross-Pollination: If a user saves a specific branch, Kinfolk may suggest the parent: "Since you follow Howard University, would you also like general HBCU news?"
 3. Organic Branch Creation: Topics become their own formal branch when enough users save them separately. For example, if 30 users manually create and save "Howard" specifically, the system promotes it from a custom topic to a formal branch under "HBCUs."
 4. Subdivision Recognition: Kinfolk's NLP engine recognizes when a broad topic has natural subdivisions and proactively suggests them to users seeking more focus.

8. SMART TOPIC SUGGESTIONS & CORRECTIONS

Kinfolk acts as an intuitive guide, helping users save the right topics to ensure they receive the highest quality content.

A. Misspelling Correction:

Kinfolk gracefully handles typos, ensuring search queries remain effective.

- User types: "Howord University"
- Kinfolk: "Did you mean 'Howard University'? I can get you news, events, and alumni updates specific to Howard."
- User types: "Hypertention"

- Kinfolk: "Saving 'Hypertension' — I'll find articles about blood pressure management for you."

B. Specificity Suggestions:

Kinfolk helps users drill down when they save overly broad topics.

- User saves: "Dance"
- Kinfolk: "Great! Would you like updates on all dance styles, or are you interested in something specific like Salsa, Stepping, Afrobeats, or Ballet?"
- User saves: "College"
- Kinfolk: "Are you looking at HBCUs, community colleges, or universities in general? I can tailor your updates."

C. Broadening Suggestions:

Kinfolk expands horizons when a user's focus is highly specific.

- User saves: "Howard University"
- Kinfolk: "Since you're interested in Howard, would you also like general HBCU news and scholarship updates?"
- User saves: "Sickle Cell"
- Kinfolk: "Would you also like updates on related topics like blood disorders or genetic testing?"

D. Behavioral Suggestions:

Kinfolk learns from the user's reading habits to suggest new topics.

- Behavior: User frequently reads articles tagged with "natural hair."
- Kinfolk: "You've been reading a lot about natural hair — would you like to save 'Protective Styles' as a separate topic for more specific content?"
- Behavior: User saves three articles about investing in one month.
- Kinfolk: "3 articles you saved this month were about investing — want to add 'Investing for Beginners' to your Library?"

9. COMMUNITY GROUPS AROUND TOPICS

The Knowledge Library acts as a funnel into the broader MWM Community. When a critical mass of users saves the same topic, Kinfolk bridges the gap between individual reading and community interaction.

Group Suggestion Examples:

- "47 people in Philadelphia also follow 'Natural Hair Care' — join the Philly Natural Hair community group?"
- "128 Howard University alumni are on MWM — connect with the Howard Alumni group?"
- "23 people in your area saved 'First-Time Homebuying' — a community discussion group exists. Want to join?"

Community Group Rules:

1. Opt-In Only: Groups are suggested by Kinfolk but NEVER auto-joined.
2. Group Typology: Groups can be location-based ("Philly Natural Hair"), identity-based ("Howard Alumni"), or topic-based ("Sickle Cell Warriors").
3. Feed Integration: Posts from group members appear in the main community feed, driving engagement.
4. Creation Threshold: Kinfolk flags the Admin dashboard when a topic reaches the threshold for group creation (e.g., 15+ users in the same city saving the same topic).
5. Initiation: Group creation can be community-initiated (requested by users) or Kinfolk-suggested (prompted by data), but always requires Admin approval.
6. Ecosystem Flywheel: The flow moves from Library → Community → Businesses. For example, a user in the "Natural Hair" group posts about an excellent local braider, granting that braider immediate, highly targeted visibility within the MWM ecosystem.

10. KINFOLK'S LEARNING BEHAVIOR & TONE

Kinfolk is designed to be an empathetic, intelligent assistant, not a rigid bot. Its behavior and tone are carefully calibrated to support the user.

1. Transparent Reasoning: Kinfolk explains why it makes a suggestion or correction.
 - Example: "I noticed you typed 'Hypertention' — the correct spelling is 'Hypertension.' Saving it this way helps me find the best medical articles for you."
2. Empathetic Tone: Kinfolk never makes the user feel inadequate. Corrections are always framed as helpful optimizations for the search engine, rather than grammatical rebukes.
3. Respecting Boundaries (Dismissal Learning): Kinfolk learns from rejection. If a user dismisses a specific suggestion (e.g., broadening "Howard" to "HBCUs") three times, Kinfolk permanently stops suggesting it to that user.
4. Engagement Tracking: Kinfolk tracks which specific branches and content types a user engages with most (reads, shares, saves) and silently prioritizes that content in future delivery cycles.

11. EXTENDED REPLIT IMPLEMENTATION NOTES (UPDATED)

Database Schema Additions (PostgreSQL):

- `LibraryTopics` : `id` , `name` , `category_id` , `description` , `search_keywords` (JSON array), `is_custom` (boolean), `parent_topic_id` (self-referencing foreign key for branching), `follower_count` .
- `TopicSources` : `id` , `topic_id` , `url` , `domain_authority_score` , `engagement_score` .
- `UserSavedTopics` : `user_id` , `topic_id` , `created_at` , `delivery_frequency` .
- `CommunityGroups` : `id` , `name` , `topic_id` , `city_id` (nullable), `group_type` (enum: location, identity, topic), `member_count` , `is_active` .
- `UserGroupMemberships` : `user_id` , `group_id` , `joined_at` .
- `KinfolkSuggestions` : `user_id` , `suggestion_type` (enum: spelling, broaden, narrow, behavior, group), `target_id` (topic_id or group_id), `dismissal_count` .

Search/Pull Logic (Cron Jobs & External APIs):

- Implement a daily cron job querying a News/Search API (e.g., Google Custom Search JSON API) using `search_keywords` combined with user demographic tags.
- Restrict searches to whitelisted `TopicSources` domains first; expand to general web only if results are insufficient.
- Store pulled articles in a `CuratedContent` table, deduplicating by URL.

Kinfolk Suggestion Engine (Logic Flow):

- Spelling: Integrate a lightweight spell-check library (e.g., natural/hunspell in Node.js) against the `LibraryTopics` name list during the save action.
- Branching: When a user saves a topic where `parent_topic_id` is null but child records exist, trigger the "Specificity Suggestion" UI prompt.
- Behavioral: Run a weekly job analyzing `UserArticleReads` . If a user reads 3+ articles mapped to an unsaved topic, insert a record into `KinfolkSuggestions` .
- Dismissal: If `KinfolkSuggestions.dismissal_count` ≥ 3 , filter that suggestion out of the UI permanently for that user.

Community Group Trigger:

- Create a materialized view or scheduled query: `SELECT topic_id, city_id, COUNT(user_id) FROM UserSavedTopics JOIN Users ON... GROUP BY topic_id, city_id HAVING COUNT(user_id) >= 15` .

- Surface results to the Admin Dashboard under "Suggested Groups." Upon Admin approval, insert into `CommunityGroups` and trigger the "Group Suggestion" prompt for the relevant users.

Ecosystem Hook Integration:

- In the UI component rendering the curated article feed, inject a "Local Experts" card after every 3rd article.
- The "Local Experts" card queries the `Businesses` table where `business_category` matches the `LibraryTopic`'s mapped business type, prioritizing businesses with >4.5 MWM Safety/Endorsement scores.
